City's Real Estate Tax Rate Boosted To $15.40

NEED FOR MORE SCHOOL MONEY FORCES CHANGE

Increase Of 80 Cents For Each $1,000 Valuation Approved By Board

BUDGET GROUP MEETING

Operating Expenses, Repair Of Buildings And Sewer Rental Fees Cited

The real estate tax rate for Circleville Corporation for 1939, or on taxes collected in 1940, will be $15.40 per $1,000 in property valuation as compared with $14.60 last year.

The rate was established tentatively Tuesday by the Pickaway County Budget Commission. It is subject to the approval of the State Tax Commission.

The increase in the rate is due to need for additional funds for Circleville schools, budget commission members explained.

Circleville's rate includes 3.3 mills for the county, a drop of .1 of a mill from last year; .3 of a mill for Circleville Township, the same as last year; 6.1 mills for Circleville city, same as last year, and 5.7 mills for schools as compared with 4.8 last year.

The Board of Education requested that .9 of a mill be added for operating expenses needed for purchasing text books now furnished free to students, for building repairs and to meet the assessment made on the schools under the sewer rental charges.

The auditor's department announced that the board of education's request for operating expenses for 1940 was about $99,000 as compared with $90,000 for 1939. The boost in the rate will bring approximately $8,000.

Darby Township's rate was fixed at 11.50 mills or .1 of a mill less than last year, the amount dropped in the general county rate. Rates for the subdivisions of the township remain the same as last year. They are 2.4 mills for the township and 5.8 mills for the schools.

CINCINNATI PUTS PENSION AUTHOR IN ITS COUNCIL

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14—The Reverend Herbert S. Bigelow, whose "50 at 60" pension plan was turned down by Ohio voters, today appeared certain of election to Cincinnati's council. Bigelow, running as an Independent, was in ninth place as counting of ballots continued.

If elected, he would hold the balance of power since observers predicted another 4-4-1 council.

Cincinnati uses the complex proportional representation system and today only three candidates for the nine councilmen posts had been elected. James G. Stewart and W. D. Gradison, Republicans, and Russell Wilson, Charterite, had been elected at the end of the 19th count yesterday.

Two more Republicans, John M. Molloy and Nicholas Klein, were expected to be elected after the next counting. Three Charterites were next in order with Rev. Bigelow in ninth place.

Observers expected the count to end this morning, making a city council again made up of four Republicans, four Charterites and one Independent.

LIBRARY FUNDS CLIFF M. WHITE TO BE SLASHED IS DEAD AT 46

Budget Commission Turns Down Plea For Increase For Next Year

The Circleville Public Library will not receive an increase in its budget for 1940, but instead will be forced to take a $500 cut.

Members of the budget commission said Tuesday that the library would be granted $9,000. The request of the trustees to the budget commission was for $12,000 and library officials later said $13,100 was desired. Last year the library was granted $9,500.

The library is supported by a share of the taxes on intangible property, not real estate.

Budget commission members said the library could obtain $2,000 next year from the Marcus Brown fund for books, a fund that has been carried along for many years. It contains only $2,000.

The commission said lower receipts from intangible taxes resulted in the reduction in funds granted the library.

CLEVELAND ASKS BRICKER TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14—An immediate special session of the state legislature to provide for Cleveland's relief needs was asked of Governor John W. Bricker by Cleveland city council today.

Bricker and State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood were expected in Cleveland today, Bricker to address a luncheon meeting of the Citizens League and Sherwood to confer with Welfare Director Fred W. Ramsey on the relief problem.

Ramsey told council last night that there was but $100,000 available for relief for the rest of the year, with needs estimated at $1,000,000 or more. Drastic curtailment of relief payments, with orders issued only to the most desperately needy cases, is necessary, Ramsey said.

A six-point program for the legislature was drawn up by council.

Former County Official, War Veteran Victim Of Lengthy Illness

An illness of nearly three years caused the death at 5 a. m. Tuesday of Cliff M. White, 46, former Pickaway County auditor and clerk of courts and a veteran of the World War. Mr. White, who had suffered from complications, died at his home, 403 South Court Street.

The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the home, the Rev. A. N. Gruener of the United Brethren Church, of which he was a member, officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery by M. S. Rinehart. Pall bearers will include Leo, Tom, Monroe and Jack White and Proctor and Harold Baughman.

Mr. White, a lifelong Democrat, became clerk of Pickaway County courts in 1925 and served two terms. After remaining out of politics for a year, he returned as a candidate for county auditor and was elected to serve from March, 1931 to March, 1935, being succeeded by Forrest Short, the incumbent. Mr. White was affiliated with the church, B. P. O. Elks lodge and Howard Hall post American Legion.

He enlisted in the United States army July 21, 1917, joining Company F, 166th Infantry, of the Rainbow Division. He served as a first class private in France from October 18, 1917, until August 20, 1918. He was discharged January 16, 1919, with service connected disability having lost an arm overseas. Prior to the World War Mr. White had served in the Ohio National Guard.

Foe Of F. D.'s Neutrality Act Plans Journey To Explain Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—A modification of the Ludlow war referendum bill—a proposal to make a vote of the people mandatory before American citizens could be drafted for service overseas—was sponsored today by Rep. Hamilton Fish (R) New York.

While a strong supporter of the Ludlow plan, to require a vote of the people before congress could declare war against any nation or nations, Fish said he will introduce his proposal at the January session of congress in the hope of escaping much of the opposition that defeated the Ludlow bill in the last regular session.

"There was lots of opposition to the war vote plan, mainly on the ground it would interfere with national defense," Fish said. "Granting the people the right to vote before imposing draft or service overseas only, will not have this opposition."

Fish, ranking Republican on the house foreign affairs committee, led the unsuccessful fight in the house against repeal of the arms embargo. He will leave Washington in two weeks for a speaking tour on the Pacific coast and in the Midwest. He said he would speak mainly on neutrality "but there might be some politics."

Neutrality Big Issue

"If the European war lasts, which I hope it won't, neutrality will be the biggest issue in the next campaign," he said. "Repeal of the arms embargo marked only the beginning of the fight to keep America out of war. I believe there is real danger of our."

BELGIUM FEELS CRISIS NEAR END

Possibility Of Invasion By Nazis Eases; Berlin Removing Troops?

BRUSSELS, Nov. 14—The Belgian government believes that Belgium and Holland, for the time being at least, have staved off any possibility of a German invasion.

This was revealed to International News Service on the highest authority today amid reports that Belgium and the Netherlands were weighing the advisability of asking the United States to join in the Dutch-Belgian drive toward mediation for peace.

These reports were not substantiated officially, but diplomatic quarters were keenly interested in the Sunday night conference at The Hague between Queen Wilhelmina and United States Minister George A. Gordon.

So far as is known, however, United States Ambassador Joseph E. Davies has received no instructions from Washington to call on King Leopold.

Reports from Berlin, meanwhile, indicated King Carol of Rumania might join Wilhelmina and Leopold in their efforts to terminate the European war. The Belgian foreign office considers that the door is still open to mediation as a result of the British and French refusal.

Nazis Promise Hands Off Flint in Voyage Home If It Carries No Contraband

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Government officials expressed the hope today that there will be no slip up in Germany's voluntary pledge not to molest the American freighter City of Flint on its homeward voyage from Norway, provided she does not carry contraband.

Fear had been felt in Washington that Germany might make fresh attempts to seize the vessel. A German naval crew had held her as a prize for about 28 days but was forced to surrender her when they directed her into a neutral Norwegian port.

The freighter, in charge of Capt. Joseph A. Gainard and a crew of 41, was still in Bergen (Norway) harbor today trying to get a supply of fuel oil for the trip back to New York's port. Officials of the United States Lines, who operate the freighter under charter, said the cargo would be discharged at Bergen and the return voyage made in ballast.

The state department stated during the night that a German naval official notified Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires in Berlin, of the clear sailing Germany's warships will give the City of Flint provided no contraband is aboard.

British Report Losses

Destroyer, Two Freighters And Trawler Sent To Bottom By Nazis

LONDON, Nov. 14—Naval warfare flared on the high seas off England's coast today when a destroyer of the royal navy, two British freighters and a trawler went down one after the other after striking mines or running afoul of enemy submarines.

At about the same time, a trawler landed at an unnamed northern British port 23 survivors of a Norwegian steamer which sank in the North Sea.

The survivors had drifted in an open boat for thirty hours before they were rescued. The trawler searched without result for five hours for another lifeboat containing 17 additional members of the Norwegian crew.

The destroyer was the first of its class to be lost by the British navy since the war began. The number of casualties was not known, but the British admiralty stated that "more than 70 survivors" had been picked up.

Floating Mine Blamed

A floating German mine sent the destroyer, as yet unidentified, to the bottom; but a Nazi U-boat was responsible for sinking the small trawler Cresswell, which went down off the Scottish coast with the loss of six members of her crew of 12.

The Cresswell, British quarters said, was shelled without warning. The survivors were picked up and held aboard the U-boat for seven hours, then transferred to the trawler Phyllis.

"U-boatmen are not the heartless murderers you are led to believe," the submarine commander told the trawler's skipper to tell (Continued on Page Eight)

TAFT TO START LONG CAMPAIGN JAUNT IN WEST

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—Launching an intensive campaign to obtain the Republican nomination for President, U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft will leave Cleveland late this week for a western speaking tour which will cover 3,000 miles.

On his western trip it was expected that the Senator would follow his past precedent and deal with the subject in which he has evidenced considerable interest—the importance of steering clear of European entanglements and solving America's own domestic problems.

Before departing on the extended journey west, Taft will address the annual convention of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce in Cleveland on Thursday. His itinerary follows:

Kansas City, Nov. 20 and 21; Des Moines, Nov. 22; Omaha, Nov. 23; Denver, Nov. 24; Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 26; Oklahoma City, Nov. 27; Tulsa, Nov. 28; Dallas, Nov. 29; Houston, Nov. 30.

The Senator will return to his home in Cincinnati on Dec. 5 before setting out for the New England states and another series of speeches.

"CHALLENGE TO COUNTRY" CITED

"War Alone Can Decide Issue," Berlin Quotes Fuehrer After Belligerent Address By Lord Of Admiralty

BERLIN, Nov. 14—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today politely rejected the offer of mediation made by Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold on the grounds that Great Britain and France have openly announced their determination to dismember and destroy the greater Reich.

The Fuehrer's carefully framed reply to the proposal, embodying his contention that the Allies had left him no alternative but to continue the war, was handed to the Belgian and Dutch ministers in Berlin at noon by Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

Its text was not made public immediately, but authentic quarters said that it followed the lines of this statement by a government spokesman yesterday:

"The British and French replies (to the mediation offer) represent a challenge to the German nation... they reveal that Britain's war aim is destruction of the Reich. The Allies have deliberately sabotaged the latest peace move while trying to throw a smoke-screen around England's war guilt."

Regardless of further attempts by neutral nations to restore peace in Europe, it is now understood that Hitler has made up his mind that the only solution lies in "war to the hilt."

BODYGUARD FOR SLAIN GAMBLER CUT IN ATTACK

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14—A youth who said he was Albert Goddard, 21, former bodyguard and chauffeur for Edward J. O'Hare, race track impresario slain last week in Chicago, was being held as a material witness today by Los Angeles police who said he had been stabbed three times.

Goddard admitted he had been stabbed when he was attacked late last night by two men he refused to name.

"I know them, but that's all I'll do about it," police quoted him as saying. His wounds were not serious.

Although he was reticent to talk, Goddard reportedly told officers he had worked for O'Hare, but would not say when.

Police claimed that Goddard had in his possession a letter which came from a Chicago friend, but which was mailed from Little Rock, Ark., referring to the O'Hare slaying.

They announced that they had advised Chicago police to take a Fred Young in custody for questioning.

DEWEY TO TOSS HAT INTO RING FOR NOMINATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—Thomas E. Dewey, New York's racket-busting district attorney, will toss his hat into the presidential ring within the next few days, the New York Journal and American reported today in an exclusive story.

The stage setting for the long awaited announcement of the district attorney's further political ambitions was arranged yesterday at a meeting of the New York state G. O. P. executive committee, according to the Journal and American.

Originally it had been planned for Dewey to announce his candidacy later in the month in St. Louis when he is awarded a medal for his anti-crime activities, the newspaper explained. New York state G. O. P. leaders vetoed this plan in the belief Dewey's candidacy should be announced in his home state, the Journal and American reported.

As the plans stand now, a committee of prominent state Republican leaders will call on Dewey within a few days and formally offer him its support in the role of New York's favorite son, according to the Journal and American.

"Dewey is expected to accept, thus officially launching a campaign for delegates under way for several months," the Journal and American stated.

AFL EMPLOYEES FAIL IN EFFORT TO RESUME JOB

DETROIT, Nov. 14—An organized force of AFL workers today made an unsuccessful attempt to go back to work in Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth plant.

The workers went into the plant but were sent home by the management because of a lack of stampings from the Dodge plant, also forced to cease operations weeks ago by the production speed dispute between Chrysler and the CIO Auto Workers Union.

President Homer Martin of the AFL union claimed 2,000 workers marched to the Plymouth plant. The corporation estimated the total at 900, and the CIO union claimed the back to work movement enticed only 200.

Two separate conferences continued as state and federal negotiators attempted to end the production tie-up that has extended almost six weeks.

Operating Expenses, Repair Of Buildings And Sewer Rental Fees Cited

The real estate tax rate for Circleville Corporation for 1939, or on taxes collected in 1940, will be $15.40 per $1,000 in property valuation as compared with $14.60 last year.

The rate was established tentatively Tuesday by the Pickaway County Budget Commission. It is subject to the approval of the State Tax Commission.

The increase in the rate is due to need for additional funds for Circleville schools, budget commission members explained.

Circleville's rate includes 3.3 mills for the county, a drop of .1 of a mill from last year; .3 of a mill for Circleville Township, the same as last year; 6.1 mills for Circleville city, same as last year, and 5.7 mills for schools as compared with 4.8 last year.

The Board of Education requested that .9 of a mill be added for operating expenses needed for purchasing text books now furnished free to students, for building repairs and to meet the assessment made on the schools under the sewer rental charges.

The auditor's department announced that the board of education's request for operating expenses for 1940 was about $99,000 as compared with $90,000 for 1939. The boost in the rate will bring approximately $8,000.

Darby Township's rate was fixed at 11.50 mills or .1 of a mill less than last year, the amount dropped in the general county rate. Rates for the subdivisions of the township remain the same as last year. They are 2.4 mills for the township and 5.8 mills for the schools.

Floating Mine Blamed

A floating German mine sent the destroyer, as yet unidentified, to the bottom, but a Nazi U-boat was responsible for sinking the small trawler Cresswell, which went down off the Scottish coast with the loss of six members of her crew of 12.

The Cresswell, British quarters said, was shelled without warning. The survivors were picked up and held aboard the U-boat for seven hours, then transferred to the trawler Phyllis.

"U-boatmen are not the heartless murderers you are led to believe," the submarine commander told the trawler's skipper to tell (Continued on Page Eight)

TAFT TO START LONG CAMPAIGN JAUNT IN WEST

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—Launching an intensive campaign to obtain the Republican nomination for President, U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft will leave Cleveland this week for a western speaking tour which will cover 3,000 miles.

On his western trip it was expected that the Senator would follow his past precedent and deal with the subject in which he has evidenced considerable interest—the importance of steering clear of European entanglements and solving America's own domestic problems.

Before departing on the extended journey west, Taft will address the annual convention of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce in Cleveland on Thursday. His itinerary follows: Kansas City, Nov. 20 and 21; Des Moines, Nov. 22; Omaha, Nov. 23; Denver, Nov. 24; Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 26; Oklahoma City, Nov. 27; Tulsa, Nov. 28; Dallas, Nov. 29; Houston, Nov. 30.

The Senator will return to his home in Cincinnati on Dec. 5 before setting out for the New England states and another series of speeches.

NINE TICKETS ISSUED IN UPTOWN PARKING CHECK

Eleven traffic tickets for parking violations were issued Monday by Patrolman Fred Fitzpatrick in a check made in the downtown district, the first in many weeks.

William Troehler, Circleville Route 1, paid $2 for overtime parking on West Main Street. Harry Riddle and E. J. Coffey, truck drivers whose addresses were not obtained by police, paid $2 each for parking trucks over 18 feet long in the downtown district.

The nine other tickets, the officer said, were issued for overtime parking. Those who fail to report will be sent cards ordering them into court.

"War Alone Can Decide Issue," Berlin Quotes Fuehrer After Belligerent Address By Lord Of Admiralty

BERLIN, Nov. 14—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today politely rejected the offer of mediation made by Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold on the grounds that Great Britain and France have openly announced their determination to dismember and destroy the greater Reich.

The Fuehrer's carefully framed reply to the proposal, embodying his contention that the Allies had left him no alternative but to continue the war, was handed to the Belgian and Dutch ministers in Berlin at noon by Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

Its text was not made public immediately, but authentic quarters said that it followed the lines of this statement by a government spokesman yesterday:

"The British and French replies (to the mediation offer) represent a challenge to the German nation... they reveal that Britain's war aim is destruction of the Reich. The Allies have deliberately sabotaged the latest peace move while trying to throw a smoke-screen around England's war guilt."

Regardless of further attempts by neutral nations to restore peace in Europe, it is now understood that Hitler has made up his mind that the only solution lies in "war to the hilt."

BODYGUARD FOR SLAIN GAMBLER CUT IN ATTACK

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 — A youth who said he was Albert Goddard, 21, former bodyguard and chauffeur for Edward J. O'Hare, race track impresario slain last week in Chicago, was being held as a material witness today by Los Angeles police who said he had been stabbed three times.

Goddard admitted he had been stabbed when he was attacked late last night by two men he refused to name.

"I know them, but that's all I'll do about it," police quoted him as saying. His wounds were not serious.

Although he was reticent to talk, Goddard reportedly told officers he had worked for O'Hare, but would not say when.

Police claimed that Goddard had in his possession a letter which came from a Chicago friend, but which was mailed from Little Rock, Ark., referring to the O'Hare slaying.

They announced that they had advised Chicago police to take a Fred Young in custody for questioning.

DEWEY TO TOSS HAT INTO RING FOR NOMINATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 — Thomas E. Dewey, New York's racket-busting district attorney, will toss his hat into the presidential ring within the next few days, the New York Journal and American reported today in an exclusive story.

The stage setting for the long awaited announcement of the district attorney's further political ambitions was arranged yesterday at a meeting of the New York state G. O. P. executive committee, according to the Journal and American.

Originally it had been planned for Dewey to announce his candidacy later in the month in St. Louis when he is awarded a medal for his anti-crime activities, the newspaper explained. New York state G. O. P. leaders vetoed this plan in the belief Dewey's candidacy should be announced in his home state, the Journal and American reported.

As the plans stand now, a committee of prominent state Republican leaders will call on Dewey within a few days and formally offer him its support in the role of New York's favorite son, according to the Journal and American.

"Dewey is expected to accept, thus officially launching a campaign for delegates under way for several months," the Journal and American stated.

AFL EMPLOYEES FAIL IN EFFORT TO RESUME JOB

DETROIT, Nov. 14—An organized force of AFL workers today made an unsuccessful attempt to go back to work in Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth plant.

The workers went into the plant but were sent home by the management because of a lack of stampings from the Dodge plant, also forced to cease operations weeks ago by the production speed dispute between Chrysler and the CIO Auto Workers Union.

President Homer Martin of the AFL union claimed 2,000 workers marched to the Plymouth plant. The corporation estimated the total at 900, and the CIO union claimed the back to work movement enticed only 200.

Two separate conferences continued as state and federal negotiators attempted to end the production tie-up that has extended almost six weeks.

BORAH SAYS HE MAY BACK DEM FOR PRESIDENT

Militant Republican Solon Reserves Right To Bolt If He Wishes

THIRD F. D. TERM OPPOSED

McAdoo Says He Will Force Convention To Draft Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Senator William E. Borah, the Republican party's senior statesman, today served notice on his colleagues that he reserves the right to bolt his party in the 1940 presidential election if the Democrats nominate a more acceptable candidate.

His warning was carried in a brief statement, opposing an appeal by GOP National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton for Republicans to "vote the straight ticket" in 1940. Borah urged the voters to maintain an independent attitude in elections, and said he regarded "the independent voter as the real salvation of decent politics in this country."

Borah has informed his friends he will exercise complete liberty of action in the 1940 campaign, no matter what his party leaders do. He feels free, they add, to publicly support a Democratic nominee if he believes the election of a Democrat is more likely to mean good government and efficient administration of public affairs in the nation's capital.

Not For Third Term
The Idaho senator, however, is unlikely to support President Roosevelt for another term.

Borah frequently has told friends he is opposed personally to a third term and feels Mr. Roosevelt should not attempt to shatter that time-honored tradition of American politics.

(Mr. Roosevelt has thwarted all efforts to sound him out on his intentions in 1940. Yesterday former U. S. Senator W. G. McAdoo stated in San Francisco that if the President does not openly seek a third term "the people will force the Democratic national convention to nominate him in 1940.")

In discussing the Hamilton appeal for a "straight party vote in 1940," Borah said:

"I recognize that Mr. Hamilton's view is the orthodox view, politically speaking, but I regard the independent voter as the real salvation of decent politics in this country. Under our system, it seems to me that we must have political parties, and parties inevitable trend toward centralization of political power and toward corruption. The only remedy there really is for the evils of the party system is the independent voter. In other words, it is the independent voter who tends to keep politics clean. It is the business of every political party to make such a record and to keep such a record as will win the independent vote."

Never for Dem
Borah never has supported a Democratic presidential nominee over a Republican standard-bearer. In 1912, as a manager for Theodore Roosevelt at the Chicago convention, he walked out of that assembly with the "Bull Moose" bolt, but he refused to attend the Progressive party convention that nominated "Teddy" on a third party ticket. In that election, he once said, he voted for William Howard Taft, the GOP nominee.

The first dramatization, an original by Max Marcin, is titled "Smugglers' Bond," and will star Allice Frost and Arthur Vinton, popular network artists. Although each episode will be a complete story in itself, it is planned to carry out the theme of the dramatization for two additional weeks, with the same cast of characters. That policy will be followed every three weeks.

ALLEN AS GUEST
Fred Allen, making one of his few guest appearances away from his own series, will be one of the stars on the initial Screen Guild Theatre Broadcast from the east over CBS Sunday, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p. m. Jimmy Shields, Irish and a tenor but not what is technically known as an "Irish tenor," is the new vocalist on the Fibber McGee and Molly program effective tonight, when he replaces Donald Novis, off the program to fulfill personal appearance engagements up and down the west coast. Shields closed on his show Sunday night and immediately hopped a plane to Hollywood for his appearance on Fibber's show, broadcast at 9:30 p. m. over the coast to coast Red network. Shields' first sing will be "Begin the Beguine."

Born in Hamilton, Ont., Shields is six feet tall and weighs 180 pounds. Away from the mike, he studies opera and recently got an orchid from Walter Winchell for the left way in which he handles a song.

Also to be heard are Eleanor Holm, aquatic star; Ray Perkins, comedian, and Peter the Great, stunt man. Music is by Peter Van Steeden's orchestra with vocals by the Merry Macs.

RADIO BRIEFS
Joe Penner, the Thursday night zany, is set for a new picture, "Glamour Boy No. 2."

NBC is having its headaches trying to find the right type of actor to play the title role in "Li'l Abner" which gets under way Nov. 20 on the Red network.

Al Jolson is weighing a radio offer which would not necessarily keep him in New York. He's undecided whether to go on the air or star in a musical comedy.

"Scatterbrain," novelty tune which originated in Frankie Masters' orchestra as a trombone warm-up run, has risen to third place in the nation's sheet music sales and to seventh in number of air performances.

Broadcasting with a bandaged chin is somewhat difficult but that's what Chuck Grant, 11-year-old actor in "Scattergood Baines" is doing. He was bruised when his dad's automobile collided with another.

Abe Lyman gets the Bandwagon" spot on NBC, Sunday, Nov. 19.

"Ned Jordan" replaces "The Grene Hornet" on MBS, the latter show moving over to NBC.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

THE NATION'S HUSKING BEE
The other day a gust of tonic wind blew from the West. It came from that part of America where the covered wagon once sowed its sturdy seed. It told of the national corn husking bee for the w-o-r-l-d's championship!

Don't laugh, you in your "well stocked clubs." Nor you in your heated cars taking your precious little dears a city block to school. Nor you at the bridge table, or the city counting house, or in Congressional cloak rooms. Don't say, O shucks! This was something real.

The Kansas corn field was bleak and sear. The sky was overcast. A cold wind pinched fingers and thumbs. Winter was on the march.

And yet the sons and daughters of pioneer forebears were there in the nippy weather. How many? Well, how many came to the biggest world's series baseball game? The all-time record football crowd? Forty, sixty, eighty, ninety thousand.

All this happened in what the city folk call the "sticks." It did not take place along Pennsylvania Avenue, Broadway, or State Street. The "big shots" of society, finance and politics were not there. And the prize these sinewy men strove for—what was it? A thousand, a hundred thousand dollars, a trip around the world, an invitation to the White House? No. A paltry hundred dollars.

But it was for far more than that. It was to be "King Bee." It was the old competitive urge—the pride of honest work, the sense of accomplishment. Our whole free enterprise system rests upon that base. And within reasonable regulation, the success of this great Republic depends upon the reward that has gone to that kind of struggle.

In a time of name-calling, a time when shrill voices promote class hatreds at home, and religious and racial hatreds abroad; in a decade when good will seems absent from the councils of men; when war threatens the whole world, and foundations everywhere are trembling, it will do you good to think of that great crowd of happy men and women at the nation's husking bee.

Many who have gone far along the "American way," I have little doubt, who have liked to be there to shake Slim Petzer's hand.

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL.

Joe Penner, the Thursday night zany, is set for a new picture, "Glamour Boy No. 2."

NBC is having its headaches trying to find the right type of actor to play the title role in "Li'l Abner" which gets under way Nov. 20 on the Red network.

Al Jolson is weighing a radio offer which would not necessarily keep him in New York. He's undecided whether to go on the air or star in a musical comedy.

"Scatterbrain," novelty tune which originated in Frankie Masters' orchestra as a trombone warm-up run, has risen to third place in the nation's sheet music sales and to seventh in number of air performances.

Broadcasting with a bandaged chin is somewhat difficult but that's what Chuck Grant, 11-year-old actor in "Scattergood Baines" is doing. He was bruised when his dad's automobile collided with another.

Abe Lyman gets the Bandwagon" spot on NBC, Sunday, Nov. 19.

"Ned Jordan" replaces "The Grene Hornet" on MBS, the latter show moving over to NBC.

THE NATION'S HUSKING BEE

The other day a gust of tonic wind blew from the West. It came from that part of America where the covered wagon once sowed its sturdy seed. It told of the national corn husking bee for the w-o-r-l-d's championship!

Don't laugh, you in your "well stocked clubs." Nor you in your heated cars taking your precious little dears a city block to school. Nor you at the bridge table, or the city counting house, or in Congressional cloak rooms. Don't say, O shucks! This was something real.

The Kansas corn field was bleak and sear. The sky was overcast. A cold wind pinched fingers and thumbs. Winter was on the march.

And yet the sons and daughters of pioneer forebears were there in the nippy weather. How many? Well, how many came to the biggest world's series baseball game? The all-time record football crowd? Forty, sixty, eighty, ninety thousand.

All this happened in what the city folk call the "sticks." It did not take place along Pennsylvania Avenue, Broadway, or State Street. The "big shots" of society, finance and politics were not there. And the prize these sinewy men strove for—what was it? A thousand, a hundred thousand dollars, a trip around the world, an invitation to the White House? No. A paltry hundred dollars.

But it was for far more than that. It was to be "King Bee." It was the old competitive urge—the pride of honest work, the sense of accomplishment. Our whole free enterprise system rests upon that base. And within reasonable regulation, the success of this great Republic depends upon the reward that has gone to that kind of struggle.

In a time of name-calling, a time when shrill voices promote class hatreds at home, and religious and racial hatreds abroad; in a decade when good will seems absent from the councils of men; when war threatens the whole world, and foundations everywhere are trembling, it will do you good to think of that great crowd of happy men and women at the nation's husking bee.

TWO LABORERS GO TO HOSPITAL AFTER MISHAPS

Two men were admitted to Berger Hospital Monday for treatment of injuries suffered in industrial accidents.

Harvey Haynes, 40, employee of the Zimmerman Trucking Service, Knightstown, Ind., was admitted about 4:20 p. m. for treatment of a fractured right leg below the knee. Mr. Haynes was loading paper in a truck at the Container Corporation. One of the rolls tipped over and struck his leg.

Charles Will, 18, of 121 East High Street, was admitted to the hospital at 9:15 p. m. for treatment of a mangled left hand suffered when it was caught in a bread moulder at the W. E. Wallace Bakery, West Main Street. Three fingers were lacerated, but no bones were broken.

THREE SESSIONS PLANNED TO ORGANIZE CUB WORK

Parents and persons interested in work among young folk are invited to attend three meetings arranged for Nov. 14, 21 and 28 for reorganization of the Cub Pack of First Methodist Church. The meetings will be held in the church. J. Irvin Shelley, Scout field executive, will be instructor.

Mrs. G. D. Phillips is chairman of the attendance committee. The meeting Tuesday night will start at 7:30 o'clock. The Cub Packs are for boys under Scout age.

ALDERMEN VOTE FOR THIRD TIME ON POLICEMAN

Ordinance, Twice Defeated, Up For Final Decision Again Wednesday

TRAFFIC CHECK SOUGHT

Two Previous Trips Through Council Bring Defeat For Proposal

The ordinance for addition of a motorcycle patrolman to the police department, making its third trip through council, will be up for a vote Wednesday night.

The ordinance was first introduced in council some months ago. At that time it was opposed by a majority of councilmen and voted down.

Protests of citizens about traffic conditions in Circleville resulted in the ordinance being dusted off and started through a second time. This time it carried an emergency clause making it become effective at once and it failed to pass on a vote of four to three. A two-thirds vote was necessary for passage as an emergency measure.

This time the ordinance has been given two readings and carries no emergency clause. If it receives four votes it will pass.

The patrolman would work in the daytime either with a motorcycle or the police cruiser.

Leist to Report

Carl C. Leist, city solicitor, announced Tuesday that he hoped to have a report for council on the city's liability in connection with the cooperative program of the city, county and 10 townships for a fire truck.

The city's part in the program would be to house, maintain and man the truck. The truck would be used for rural runs and on dangerous fires in Circleville.

Councilmen at their last meeting requested the city solicitor to look up the legal phases of the program from the city's standpoint. Councilmen wondered who would be liable in the event the truck was involved in an accident when operated by city employees.

County commissioners did not discuss the fire truck program Monday. They desired a report from the city before taking any definite steps to make an appropriation.

TRUSTEES CLAIM PROGRESS MADE IN PREXY STUDY

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14 — Ohio State university was still without a president today but for the first time since the post was vacated 16 months ago the Board of Trustees indicated that "definite progress" had been made toward selecting a man for the position.

Although the board is not scheduled to meet again until Dec. 11, it was indicated at the expiration of yesterday's seven hour session that at least one special gathering would be called before that date.

Optimistic, Miss M. Edith Campbell, Cincinnati, board chairman, asserted that "while we made no appointment for the presidency, we made very definite progress." She said that frequent meetings would be held until the highly important executive position was filled.

Dr. George Rightmire retired in July, 1938, when he reached the retirement age of 70. Since that time, Dr. William McPherson, 75, has been acting president.

Since the trustees began their long quest for an executive, numerous prominent persons have been considered. Among those offered the post but declined were Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the Federal Security Agency, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, professor of Physics at the University of Chicago.

NEW CATHOLIC LEADER

Insiders are predicting that the major development at the conclave of Catholic hierarchy in Washington this week will be the informal elevation of Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, of New York, to the role of the late Cardinal Mundelein as the leader of the Church in the U. S.

Young, liberal, Archbishop Spellman is Pope Pius XII's closest friend in this country. Like Cardinal Mundelein he also is an old friend of President Roosevelt and a supporter of many New Deal policies, including the neutrality bill.

Another important result expected at the conclave is a clear-cut declaration pledging the Catholic clergy of the U. S. to the anti-totalitarian policy enunciated by the Pope in his recent encyclical. The Pontiff denounced the destruction of Poland and hit at Nazi race theories, which he characterized as one of the "pernicious errors of our time" and an "attempt to destroy human solidarity."

The encyclical ran directly counter to the anti-Semitic blasts of Father Coughlin. The radio priest,

LATE OHIO FIELD CROPS' OUTLOOK MUCH IMPROVED

Federal-State Reporting Service Cites Boost In Production

CORN YIELD INCREASES

Soybeans To Amount To Nearly Eight Million Bushels In State

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—The outlook for Ohio's late field crops, as of November 1, was considerably improved over the previous month, the federal-state crop reporting service declared today. Production of apples, pears, and grapes was expected to be larger than indicated on Oct. 1.

November 1 estimates indicated a yield of 49 bushels of corn per acre in comparison to 44 bushels in 1938. Total production of corn was estimated at 167,825,000 bushels against 156,992,000 in 1938.

Soybeans were expected to average 21 bushels per acre, the same as last year. The total yield was expected to approximate 7,854,000 bushels compared to 5,313,000 in 1938.

Estimate for the potato crop was 12,626,000 bushels, the same as last year. The sugar beet estimate was 336,000 tons, 30,000 less than last year.

Burley tobacco was estimated at 12,950,000 compared with 11,645,000 a year ago while the hard wheat yield was expected to near 192,000 pounds against 210,000 in 1938.

Eggs per 100 hens averaged 24.5 to 23.2 a year ago. The number of hens and pullets in a flock averaged 104 birds against 102 last year while milk production per cow averaged 14.1 pounds compared with 14.5 pounds on Nov. 1 a year ago.

GESSAMAN TOLD CITY'S DEFICIT TO BE IMMENSE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—The city of Columbus will have a deficit of from $250,000 to $270,000, due to the administration of direct relief, Mayor Myron B. Gessaman was informed today by William H. Hartsough, Jr., head of the division of charities.

Hartsough blamed the deficit on unusually heavy expenditures due to WPA layoffs, and the failure of the state to pay half of the direct relief costs as anticipated. The state has been paying between 30 and 40 percent of the cost, Hartsough reported.

Relief expenditures in Columbus were estimated at $1,454,000 for the entire year to Dec. 31 in Hartsough's report, nearly $200,000 more than expended in 1938. There were 1,003 more cases in 1939 than in 1938, despite the fact that there are about 5,000 less persons dependent on WPA or direct relief Hartsough said.

evolving a way to lick the snag menace. However, it must be admitted that so far results have been meagre.

The experts found that snags occur chiefly in "low twist", or loosely woven, hose. But they also discovered that while "high twist" stockings have more snag resistance, when once snagged they develop longer runs than "low twist" hose.

The experts have come to one conclusion: The finish of a stocking has a great deal to do with its durability. Working from this base, they are concentrating on finding the best finish which, combined with the most efficient type of silk twist, will give consumers a snag-proof hose. So far, the Bureau has discovered only one brand of stocking on the market genuinely run-proof. This brand has a reinforced fine silk under-web that locks every stitch in the stocking.

NOTE—The experts rate as worthless certain chemical preparations intended to be snag resistors.

NEW CATHOLIC LEADER

Insiders are predicting that the major development at the conclave of Catholic hierarchy in Washington this week will be the informal elevation of Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, of New York, to the role of the late Cardinal Mundelein as the leader of the Church in the U. S.

Young, liberal, Archbishop Spellman is Pope Pius XII's closest friend in this country. Like Cardinal Mundelein he also is an old friend of President Roosevelt and a supporter of many New Deal policies, including the neutrality bill.

Another important result expected at the conclave is a clear-cut declaration pledging the Catholic clergy of the U. S. to the anti-totalitarian policy enunciated by the Pope in his recent encyclical. The Pontiff denounced the destruction of Poland and hit at Nazi race theories, which he characterized as one of the "pernicious errors of our time" and an "attempt to destroy human solidarity."

The encyclical ran directly counter to the anti-Semitic blasts of Father Coughlin. The radio priest,

LATE OHIO FIELD CROPS' OUTLOOK MUCH IMPROVED

Federal-State Reporting Service Cites Boost In Production

CORN YIELD INCREASES

Soybeans To Amount To Nearly Eight Million Bushels In State

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—The outlook for Ohio's late field crops, as of November 1, was considerably improved over the previous month, the federal-state crop reporting service declared today. Production of apples, pears, and grapes was expected to be larger than indicated on Oct. 1.

November 1 estimates indicated a yield of 49 bushels of corn per acre in comparison to 44 bushels in 1938. Total production of corn was estimated at 167,825,000 bushels against 156,992,000 in 1938.

Soybeans were expected to average 21 bushels per acre, the same as last year. The total yield was expected to approximate 7,854,000 bushels compared to 5,313,000 in 1938.

Estimate for the potato crop was 12,626,000 bushels, the same as last year. The sugar beet estimate was 336,000 tons, 30,000 less than last year.

Burley tobacco was estimated at 12,950,000 compared with 11,645,000 a year ago while the buckwheat yield was expected to near 192,000 pounds against 210,000 in 1938.

Eggs per 100 hens averaged 24.5 to 25.2 a year ago. The number of hens and pullets in a flock averaged 104 birds against 102 last year while milk production per cow averaged 14.1 pounds compared with 14.5 pounds on Nov. 1 a year ago.

GESSAMAN TOLD CITY'S DEFICIT TO BE IMMENSE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—The city of Columbus will have a deficit of from $250,000 to $270,000, due to the administration of direct relief, Mayor Myron B. Gessaman was informed today by William H. Hartsough, Jr., head of the division of charities.

Hartsough blamed the deficit on unusually heavy expenditures due to WPA layoffs, and the failure of the state to pay half of the direct relief costs as anticipated. The state has been paying between 30 and 40 percent of the cost, Hartsough reported.

Relief expenditures in Columbus were estimated at $1,454,000 for the entire year to Dec. 31 in Hartsough's report, nearly $200,000 more than expended in 1938. There were 1,003 more cases in 1939 than in 1938, despite the fact that there are about 5,000 less persons dependent on WPA or direct relief Hartsough said.

INVENTIVE PROGRESS

THE inventors keep right on, in good times and bad times, in war or peace, producing things to promote human efficiency and comfort. The latest triumphs from the patent office at Washington are these:

A "bathtub slipper" which is worn in the tub like a shoe, to prevent slipping;

An electric toothbrush, to cleanse the teeth mechanically and thus save the energy required by manual scrubbing;

A "file guard" for fingernails, which is clamped on over the fingertips to guide the manicure tools and produce a more workmanlike job.

Thus, point by point, America forges ahead in the great race of civilization, overcoming all obstacles by bold inventive ingenuity.

HOMICIDAL HUNTERS

THE hunting season has brought out a curious comment on the human race. A letter to a newspaper editor calls for a safety campaign to protect hunters from each other. The number of hunting accidents, many of them fatal, is proof that work is needed along this line, but the letter-writer's slant on the situation is novel.

"A man goes into the woods to hunt deer," he says, "and knows full well what his partner looks like. In a few minutes he thinks his partner looks like a wild animal and shoots him. If he is not drunk or does not have poor eyesight, he has deliberately tried to kill him."

"I have heard several men say, all they have to do is to invite a man to go hunting, and if they shoot him, nothing will be done about it. Many men refuse to hunt under such conditions."

Murder isn't really so prevalent as that. No doubt punishment for carelessness would have a deterrent effect on some hunters. Careless motorists may be charged with manslaughter for traffic deaths and punished accordingly if they are convicted. But attributing murderous intent to the army of hunters who go forth at this season for squirrels or rabbits or deer goes pretty far toward libelling the human race.

This war, if it is a war, may be decided not on a battlefield but in a smoke-filled room.

The complete presentation of "Hamlet" shows that Shakespeare was as good as Bernard Shaw, and almost as talkative.

OFFICIALS PROBE DUMPING

WASHINGTON—Authorities are quietly investigating inside reports that the chief reason for the flabbiness of stock prices is secret, systematic dumping of U. S. securities by the Allies.

The doldrums gripping the stock market are in striking contrast to the exuberance of industry. While the business index is higher today than in 1937, in some lines even higher than in 1929, stocks are from 45 to 50 points below 1937 levels and approximately 200 points under 1929 highs.

Every time the market stiffens and starts upward, a selling wave immediately develops and prices slump. The core of this selling, authorities suspect, is of European origin—governments seeking to obtain dollar credits in this country to finance the war purchases made possible by the lifting of the arms embargo.

At the beginning of the war, British and French holdings in U. S. stocks and bonds were around $5,000,000,000. These investments were chiefly in so-called gilt-edge industrials, such as General Motors, General Electric, DuPont and Allied Chemical; and the major railroads, Pennsylvania, Southern, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Great Northern.

Since the the two governments have taken over these securities and in recent weeks have been secretly unloading them to pay for heavy outlays for war materials.

CONCEALED SALES

Evidence of the effort being made abroad to cloak these operations in deep secrecy is certain confidential proposals made to leading U. S. firms whose stocks are held by the Allies.

The London branches of the principal New York banks, through which most of these transactions are handled, were asked to approach these companies with a proposition to issue new temporary certificates to cover unloaded securities. In other words, instead of the original stock certificates going through the New York Clearing House and revealing their source, temporary certificates would be issued in the name of the agent bank, thereby secretizing the origin of the sale.

Another proposal was to permit the London agents to cable that certain certificates had been "canceled", that is, sold, and the companies then to issue new ones.

So far most of the corporations have rejected these schemes because of the danger of forgeries and other crooked operations, but indications are that the last has not been heard of the matter.

Scurvy is Still Potential Danger

IS SCURVY really a dangerous disease nowadays or has it died out?

Scurvy in adults is very seldom seen because we have learned how to control it, but there certainly is a potential danger, as evidenced by the experience of the Italian troops in Ethiopia. They were all placed on a scientifically-arranged, anti-scurvy diet. In other words, every soldier was compelled to eat a lemon a day. There were no cases of scurvy in the Italian army. The Ethiopian army, on the other hand, is said to have had over 30,000 cases of scurvy because they were on an insufficient diet.

Medical Nomenclature

Why don't doctors use common and easily understood words?

The words that the doctor uses are time-saving and perfectly understandable to him. For instance: -itis as a suffix means "inflammation"; examples—appendicitis, tonsillitis.

-ectomy as a suffix means "to remove," such as appendectomy, tonsillectomy.

-necrosis as a suffix means a "diseased condition," such as nephrosis.

Prefix dyspepsia means "pain"; for instance, dyspepsia means painful digestion.

Other combinations refer to particular organs. For instance: Arthritis means a joint; thus, arthritis means inflammation of a joint.

Dermatitis pertains to a tooth; dermatitis to the skin; gastro, stomach; hepato, liver; nephro, kidney; neuro, nerve; osteo, bone; oto, ear; phlebo, vein; rhino, nose.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendingen has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX

WHEN LANCY scowled so forbiddingly at me, instead of greeting me with his customary smile, I knew he didn't want to be bothered. But I couldn't resist one parting shot. I gathered up my cleaning tools and headed for the door, throwing back over my shoulder a saucy:

"I'm just finished, and you can have a clean room to work in."

"I'll see you later," he called after me, and the tone of his voice reassured me. He wasn't cross, just pre-occupied.

After breakfast I went to the kitchen to offer any help Chloe might need, but she scornfully refused my aid.

"You've done enough," she said decidedly. "Gettin' up 'fore daylight an' doin' that room. I'll tend to things here. You jus' scoot along an' res'."

It was a lovely day, sunny and warm, yet with a refreshing breeze. I decided that the terrace was the nicest place to be and established myself there with a book. Josie joined me a little later, and about eleven o'clock Alan arrived.

He had hardly taken a seat beside us when Captain Lancy, in immaculate flannels, strode through the door.

"I was just going over to your house, Murray," was his greeting. "How is Miss Ivy coming along?"

"The nurse said this morning that she is better. She's still saying 'Let-her-book.' But now she's added 'Selina' on the end of it. That's your mother's name, isn't it?" he asked Josie.

She nodded. "If Miss Ivy would only say something sensible," she murmured.

Lancy was standing looking off into the distance. On his face was a look of concentration. I didn't think he even heard what was said, but suddenly he swung around and addressed Alan.

"I'm going over to see Miss Ivy," he announced. "I'd like to have you come along."

"Right, sir," Alan unfolded his long length from the deck chair, and the two went off together.

"Oh, Sally," cried Josie, with sparkling eyes, "do you suppose he thinks she can talk?"

"I don't know what he thinks," I muttered crossly. I wanted to go with them myself. I had been in on so many police sessions that I quite resented it when I was left out.

This murder had changed my outlook on a great many things. Before I came to Hill House, if anyone had intimated that I would really get a kick out of being on the police side of an interview, I would have known the head of that particular person needed examination.

Yet it was true. Every one of the incidents I had witnessed held its individual thrill—sometimes of sheer enjoyment, as I listened to Lancy and the chief overcome some one's reluctance to talk, sometimes of horror, yet even then, full of interest.

I little dreamed I had yet to go through one so much more thrilling and horrible than the excitement of the others would be wiped away as completely as is the writing on a slate by passing over it a wet sponge.

Captain Lancy and Alan were gone considerably over an hour. When they returned, the detective went straight to the office, while Alan cut across the lawn to us.

Josie could not wait for him to speak.

"What did he find?" she cried excitedly. "Did Miss Ivy talk to him?"

"I don't know. I—"

"You don't know! Weren't you there?"

"Not in Miss Ivy's room. He went there with the nurse and stayed a long time. When he came down he asked mother for Miss Ivy's bank book. You remember Mother thought that was what she wanted when she first began to speak."

We both nodded. Alan's deliberate drawl almost drove me crazy. I felt that he would never get to the gist of the matter, but it wasn't any use to try to hurry him. He is the type that plods one step at a time, and you're wasting your time trying to incite a faster pace. "He looked at every page in that book. When he got to the last one, he handed it back to mother and said:

"And there was the letter just as she left it."

"Mrs. Murray, do you know if there is in this house a book which Mrs. Peake gave Miss Ivy?"

"Mother pondered over that for a while. 'I don't know,' she finally said. 'Miss Ivy has never mentioned Mrs. Peake to me since the day she built the spite fence until the night Mrs. Peake was killed.'"

"When she built the fence she told me she intended to blot Mrs. Peake from her mind as she had hidden her from her sight. She told me never to mention her name, and of course I never did."

"That is why I was so surprised when she told me she was going over there, and also why I was so upset when she didn't come back immediately, as she said she should do. There may be a dozen books in this house which were given to Miss Ivy by her sister and there may not be one."

"I see," said Lancy. "Do you mind if I look around a bit?"

"Of course mother said no, and he began to look around. He took down every book in the bookcase and looked them through. He took each one by the back and shook it. I couldn't imagine what he was after. Finally, he said:

"Mrs. Murray, there must be a letter here from Mrs. Peake. There must be! I believe that is what Miss Ivy is trying to say. Not: Let her—book—Selina. But: Letter—book—Selina."

"That was an entirely new idea to mother and me, but it is sensible enough, after he explained it."

Alan looked as triumphantly at us as though he were the one who had read the riddle of Miss Ivy's disjointed words.

"Go on!"

"Don't stop!"

In one breath Josie and I urged him on. We were sitting on the edge of our chairs by that time, and I—I can't say for Josie, but I was literally gasping for breath.

"Hurry!" exclaimed Josie, as Alan just grinned at our excitement.

"I can't hurry," was his calm reply. "It's too good to pass up a word."

I just drew a long sigh and settled back in my chair. Alan Murray is, without a doubt, the most ex-which you introduce to the other.

War goes on in Europe and few are being hurt. I thought that this war would be fought on land, and here it is being staged at sea with guns and torpedoes trained against merchant and passenger vessels. Noted many of our local lads decked out in their National Guard uniforms and taking part in the test mobilization. ### INVENTIVE PROGRESS

THE inventors keep right on, in good times and bad times, in war or peace, producing things to promote human efficiency and comfort. The latest triumphs from the patent office at Washington are these:

A "bathtub slipper" which is worn in the tub like a shoe, to prevent slipping;

An electric toothbrush, to cleanse the teeth mechanically and thus save the energy required by manual scrubbing;

A "file guard" for fingernails, which is clamped on over the fingertips to guide the manicure tools and produce a more workmanlike job.

Thus, point by point, America forges ahead in the great race of civilization, overcoming all obstacles by bold inventive ingenuity.

HOMICIDAL HUNTERS

THE hunting season has brought out a curious comment on the human race. A letter to a newspaper editor calls for a safety campaign to protect hunters from each other. The number of hunting accidents, many of them fatal, is proof that work is needed along this line, but the letter-writer's slant on the situation is novel.

"A man goes into the woods to hunt deer," he says, "and knows full well what his partner looks like. In a few minutes he thinks his partner looks like a wild animal and shoots him. If he is not drunk or does not have poor eyesight, he has deliberately tried to kill him."

"I have heard several men say, all they have to do is to invite a man to go hunting, and if they shoot him, nothing will be done about it. Many men refuse to hunt under such conditions."

Murder isn't really so prevalent as that. No doubt punishment for carelessness would have a deterrent effect on some hunters. Careless motorists may be charged with manslaughter for traffic deaths and punished accordingly if they are convicted. But attributing murderous intent to the army of hunters who go forth at this season for squirrels or rabbits or deer goes pretty far toward libelling the human race.

This war, if it is a war, may be decided not on a battlefield but in a smoke-filled room.

The complete presentation of "Hamlet" shows that Shakespeare was as good as Bernard Shaw, and almost as talkative.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

OFFICIALS PROBE DUMPING

WASHINGTON—Authorities are quietly investigating inside reports that the chief reason for the flabbiness of stock prices is secret, systematic dumping of U. S. securities by the Allies.

The doldrums gripping the stock market are in striking contrast to the exuberance of industry. While the business index is higher today than in 1937, in some lines even higher than in 1929, stocks are from 45 to 50 points below 1937 levels and approximately 200 points under 1929 highs.

Every time the market stiffens and starts upward, a selling wave immediately develops and prices slump. The core of this selling, authorities suspect, is of European origin—governments seeking to obtain dollar credits in this country to finance the war purchases made possible by the lifting of the arms embargo.

At the beginning of the war, British and French holdings in U. S. stocks and bonds were around $5,000,000,000. These investments were chiefly in so-called gilt-edge industrials, such as General Motors, General Electric, DuPont and Allied Chemical; and the major railroads, Pennsylvania, Southern, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Great Northern.

Since the two governments have taken over these securities and in recent weeks have been secretly unloading them to pay for heavy outlays for war materials.

CONCEALED SALES

Evidence of the effort being made abroad to cloak these operations in deep secrecy is certain confidential proposals made to leading U. S. firms whose stocks are held by the Allies.

The London branches of the principal New York banks, through which most of these transactions are handled, were asked to approach these companies with a proposition to issue new temporary certificates to cover unloaded securities. In other words, instead of the original stock certificates going through the New York Clearing House and revealing their source, temporary certificates would be issued in the name of the agent bank, thereby secretizing the origin of the sale.

Another proposal was to permit the London agents to cable that certain certificates had been "canceled", that is, sold, and the companies then to issue new ones.

So far most of the corporations have rejected these schemes because of the danger of forgeries and other crooked operations, but indications are that the last has not been heard of the matter.

Exercises for a Better Contour

Please give some exercises which will reduce the legs, thighs and hips. This can be done only to a limited extent. Removal of local excesses of fat is not feasible. Exercises for the hips which strengthen them and tend to make a better contour are as follows:

Exercise 1—Lie on the back with the legs extended, and move one leg upward until the knee is as close as possible to the chest and the heel is touching the back of the leg. Then do this with the other leg and repeat 20 times.

Exercise 2—In the same position do imaginary bicycle pedaling.

Exercise 3—Kneel and with the arms stretched above the head bend first to the right and then to the left until hands are as close to the floor as possible. Repeat this 20 times.

Exercise 4—Stand with the feet about six inches apart and the arms extended over the head, and bend first to the right and then to the left, and backwards and forwards. Repeat 20 times.

Scurvy is Still Potential Danger

IS SCURVY really a dangerous disease nowadays or has it died out?

Scurvy in adults is very seldom seen because we have learned how to control it, but there certainly is a potential danger, as evidenced by the experience of the Italian troops in Ethiopia. They were all placed on a scientifically-arranged, anti-scurvy diet. In other words, every soldier was compelled to eat a lemon a day. There were no cases of scurvy in the Italian army. The Ethiopian army, on the other hand, is said to have had over 30,000 cases of scurvy because they were on an insufficient diet.

Medical Nomenclature

Why don't doctors use common and easily understood words?

The words that the doctor uses are time-saving and perfectly understandable to him. For instance: -itis as a suffix means "inflammation," examples—appendicitis, tonsillitis.

-ectomy as a suffix means "to remove," such as appendectomy, tonsillectomy.

-osis as a suffix means a "diseased condition," such as nephrosis. Prefix dys means "pain"; for instance, dyspepsia means painful digestion.

Other combinations refer to particular organs. For instance: Arthritis means inflammation of a joint.

Dentitis pertains to a tooth; dermatitis to the skin; gastritis, stomach; hepatitis, liver; nephritis, kidney; neuritis, nerve; otitis, bone; oto, ear; phlebotomy, vein; rhinitis, nose.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper.

The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Shadow Over Hill House

By ELLIOTT FILLION

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX
WHEN LANCY scowled so forbiddingly at me, instead of greeting me with his customary smile, I knew he didn't want to be bothered. But I couldn't resist one parting shot. I gathered up my cleaning tools and headed for the door, throwing back over my shoulder a saucy:

"I'm just finished, and you can have a clean room to work in."

"I'll see you later," he called after me, and the tone of his voice reassured me. He wasn't cross, just pre-occupied.

After breakfast I went to the kitchen to offer any help Chloe might need, but she scornfully refused my aid.

"You've done enough," she said decidedly. "Gettin' up 'fore daylight an' doin' that room. I'll tend to things here. You just scoot along an' res'."

It was a lovely day, sunny and warm, yet with a refreshing breeze. I decided that the terrace was the nicest place to be and established myself there with a book. Josie joined me a little later, and about eleven o'clock Alan arrived.

He had hardly taken a seat beside us when Captain Lancy, in immaculate flannels, strode through the door.

"I was just going over to your house, Murray," was his greeting.

"How is Miss Ivy coming along?"

"The nurse said this morning that she is better. She's still saying 'Let—her—book.' But now she's added 'Selina' on the end of it. That's your mother's name, isn't it?" he asked Josie.

She nodded. "If Miss Ivy would only say something sensible," she murmured.

Lancy was standing looking off into the distance. On his face was a look of concentration. I didn't think he even heard what was said, but suddenly he swung around and addressed Alan.

"I'm going over to see Miss Ivy," he announced. "I'd like to have you come along."

"Right, sir," Alan unfolded his long length from the deck chair, and the two went off together.

"Oh, Sally," cried Josie, with sparkling eyes, "do you suppose he thinks she can talk?"

"I don't know what he thinks," I muttered crossly. I wanted to go with them myself. I had been in on so many police sessions that I quite resented it when I was left out.

This murder had changed my outlook on a great many things. Before I came to Hill House, if anyone had intimated that I would really get a kick out of being on the police side of an interview, I would have known the head of that particular person needed examination.

Yet it was true. Every one of the incidents I had witnessed held its individual thrill—sometimes of sheer enjoyment, as I listened to Lancy and the chief overcome some one's reluctance to talk, sometimes of horror, yet even then, full of interest.

A little dreamed I had yet to go through one so much more thrilling and horrible than the excitement of the others would be wiped away as completely as is the writing on a slate by passing over it a wet sponge.

Captain Lancy and Alan were gone considerably over an hour. When they returned, the detective went straight to the office, while Alan cut across the lawn to us.

Josie could not wait for him to speak.

"What did he find?" she cried excitedly. "Did Miss Ivy talk to him?"

"I don't know. I—"

"You don't know! Weren't you there?"

"Not in Miss Ivy's room. He went there with the nurse and stayed a long time. When he came down he asked mother for Miss Ivy's bank book. You remember Mother thought that was what she wanted when she first began to speak."

We both nodded. Alan's deliberate drawl almost drove me crazy. I felt that he would never get to the gist of the matter, but it wasn't any use to try to hurry him. He is the type that plods one step at a time, and you're wasting your time trying to incite a faster pace.

"And there was the letter just as she left it."

"He looked at every page in that book. When he got to the last one, he handed it back to mother and said:

"Mrs. Murray, do you know if there is in this house a book which Mrs. Peake gave Miss Ivy?"

"Mother pondered over that for a while. 'I don't know,' she finally said. 'Miss Ivy has never mentioned Mrs. Peake to me since the day she built the spite fence until the night Mrs. Peake was killed.'

"When she built the fence she told me she intended to blot Mrs. Peake from her mind as she had hidden her from her sight. She told me never to mention her name, and of course I never did."

"That is why I was so surprised when she told me she was going over there, and also why I was so upset when she didn't come back immediately, as she said she should do. There may be a dozen books in this house which were given to Miss Ivy by her sister and there may not be one."

"I see," said Lancy. "Do you mind if I look around a bit?"

"Of course mother said no, and he began to look around. He took down every book in the bookcase and looked them through. He took each one by the back and shook it. I couldn't imagine what he was after. Finally, he said:

"Mrs. Murray, there must be a letter here from Mrs. Peake. There must be! I believe that is what Miss Ivy is trying to say. Not: Let—her—book—Selina. But: Letter—book—Selina."

"That was an entirely new idea to mother and me, but it is sensible enough, after he explained it."

Alan looked as triumphantly at us as though he were the one who had read the riddle of Miss Ivy's disjointed words.

"Go on!"

"Don't stop!"

In one breath Josie and I urged him on. We were sitting on the edge of our chairs by that time, and I—I can't say for Josie, but I was literally gasping for breath.

"Hurry!" exclaimed Josie, as Alan just grinned at our excitement.

"I can't hurry," was his calm reply. "It's too good to pass up a word."

I just drew a long sigh and settled back in my chair. Alan Murray is, without a doubt, the most exacting you introduce to the other.

Up to nurse along a champion cold. Have no idea where or how I got it. Maybe on an eastern business trip. Down by bumpy train and back by plane that was tossed every which way in rain and wind storm. Incidentally, Buffalo has the ugliest women in the world. There two days and didn't see even a single near beauty. A grand city hall they have, and the mounted policemen carry blankets for their horses. Theatres showing pictures that were here some time ago.

At the Coffee Club saw some new faces, including the Rev. Robert Kelsey, whose wife was attending an art exhibit in Detroit. Charles May, the barrister, was there, too, and Neighbor Plum, of the insurance business. And all the regulars whose matching style was somewhat cramped by presence of pastor and barrister.

All saddened at the office by the passing of Gerald Horn, who worked as a printer on this paper for several years. Gerald was a happy lad who did much to shorten each work day for his companions. There are early shoppers too, wise ones who will laugh at the rest of us when we are all in a dither a few days before Christmas. Home to lunch, there to find a grand chicken, gift of Frank Howard. Much appreciated, too, that bird. That is the same Frank Howard we all thought was dying not so many weeks ago.

More Than 300 Present As Walnut P.-T.A. Meets

Address On 'Art' Presented By Instructor

Social Calendar

More than 300 members and guests attended the open house meeting of the Walnut Parent-Teacher Association, Monday, visiting the classes for the demonstration work and enjoying the splendid talk on "Art" by Mrs. W. Emerson Downing, supervisor of art in the Circleville Schools.

Mrs. Downing, who was introduced by Mrs. C. D. Bennett, chairman of the year program committee, expressed many pertinent thoughts in connection with art. Included in these were: "You cannot escape art, you live it all day long"; "Art is important to a child because it makes him think"; and "The greatest principles of art are order and harmony."

Mrs. Downing showed color charts and explained the difference between tints and shades. She also displayed many drawings made by children in the Circleville Schools.

Two choral numbers by a group of High School girls opened the program. Their selections were "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" and "Thanksgiving Prayer." A two piano number was played by Miss Ethel Koch and Miss Ruth Barr.

The business meeting was led by Arthur Sark, president, and was very brief. He appointed Miss Rosemary Boggs, Miss Georgia C. Bowers and McClure H. Hughes members of the book committee. All grades having an average attendance of 97 percent are to receive books for their libraries.

The members of the junior class, having the greatest number of parents present, won the pennant for the month.

Refreshments, in keeping with the autumn season, were served after the session by Mrs. Hugh Lamb, chairman, and other members of the hospitality committee.

Third Anniversary Meeting
Mrs. Bryce Briggs of North Scioto Street opened her home Monday for the meeting of the Major John Boggs Chapter, Daughters of 1812, the third anniversary of the organization being celebrated with a tea, the members visiting guests for the occasion. Mrs. Orion King, West High Street, founded and organized the chapter November 18, 1936, and served as first president of the group.

Mrs. John Boggs, president, opened the meeting, Mrs. King, as acting chaplain, leading the ritualistic service, which closed with the Salute to the Flag.

After the brief business session, which included the report of Mrs. Will Mack, secretary, Mrs. Boggs presented Mrs. Charles H. May who gave a brief but instructive talk on "French Explorations in Ohio. The Lead Plates."

As the result of the explorations of LaSalle, a French explorer of the years 1643 to 1687, she said that the French laid claim to the territory called Ohio. At that time it included six states or parts of them, even small portions of Kentucky, the seventh state, being part of the province. Mrs. May continued her talk with facts concerning exploring expeditions during the reign of Louis XIV, many of them coming from Canada. Maumee City was the first trading post and continued 18 years. In connection with the explorations, she told of the leaden plates, 11x7x1/4 inches, which were buried at various places on the boundaries of the Ohio territory and discussed the inscriptions which stated the French claims to the land.

She mentioned many Indian and French encounters and told of George Washington being sent from Virginia by Governor Dinwiddie to investigate the claims of the French. She mentioned the colorful conferences he held with the French and the Indians, the Indians claiming to be friendly with either side as it seemed expedient at the time. The Seven Year War resulted in the French and Indians releasing their claims to the territory.

Two new members were received at the meeting, Miss Mary Heffner of East Mound Street, and Mrs. Roland E. Whitney of Chillicothe. Mrs. Whitney, Miss Reppa D. Larimore of Chillicothe and Mrs. B. C. Carpenter of Williamsport were present from out-of-town.

After the program, tea was served in the dining room. A large silver bowl of pompons in lovely shades centered the table which had tall white tapers in triple crystal holders at either

THE RECIPE for boiled fish is especially good for salt water fish, and more particularly for an inexpensive seafood variously called weakfish, sea trout and squeteague. There is no reason, however, why it would not be an equally good way to cook fresh water fish. It is somewhat similar to my favorite recipe for boiling fish. The recipe comes from Long Island Seafood Cook Book, by J. Geo. Frederick. You may, of course, omit the almonds if you prefer.

Boiled Weakfish, Long Beach—
Ingredients: one celery root,

chopped; one onion, chopped; one sprig parsley, three good-sized weakfish, water, one teaspoon vinegar, two hard-cooked eggs, one cup sweet cream, two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons cold milk, one dozen blanched almonds, one tablespoon chopped parsley. Place celery root, onion and parsley in a kettle. Wrap the fish in cheesecloth or parchment and lay it on the vegetables. Pour in enough boiling water to cover and add vinegar (the vinegar keeps the fish firm). Simmer just below the boiling point until tender, allowing six to eight minutes to the pound. In the meantime, hard-cook two eggs. Drain fish and lay on a hot platter and prepare the following sauce: Heat sweet cream in a saucepan. Blend flour with cold milk; add to cream, stirring until smooth. Boil about one minute, stirring constantly; pour over the fish. Stick almonds into the fish, points up. Shell the hard-cooked eggs, chop the whites and yolks separately; garnish the fish, first with a row of chopped yolks, then of whites, until all are used.

More Than 300 Present As Walnut P.-T.A. Meets

Address On 'Art' Presented By Instructor

More than 300 members and guests attended the open house meeting of the Walnut Parent-Teacher Association, Monday, visiting the classes for the demonstration work and enjoying the splendid talk on "Art" by Mrs. W. Emerson Downing, supervisor of art in the Circleville Schools.

Mrs. Downing, who was introduced by Mrs. C. D. Bennett, chairman of the year program committee, expressed many salient thoughts in connection with art. Included in these were: "You cannot escape art, you live it all day long"; "Art is important to a child because it makes him think" and "The greatest principles of art are order and harmony."

Mrs. Downing showed color charts and explained the difference between tints and shades. She also displayed many drawings made by children in the Circleville Schools.

Two choral numbers by a group of High School girls opened the program. Their selections were "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" and "Thanksgiving Prayer."

A two piano number was played by Miss Ethel Koch and Miss Ruth Barr.

The business meeting was led by Arthur Sark, president, and was very brief. He appointed Miss Rosemary Boggs, Miss Georgia C. Bowers and McClure H. Hughes members of the book committee.

All grades having an average attendance of 97 percent are to receive books for their libraries.

The members of the junior class, having the greatest number of parents present, won the pennant for the month.

Refreshments, in keeping with the autumn season, were served after the session by Mrs. Hugh Lamb, chairman, and other members of the hospitality committee.

Third Anniversary Meeting

Mrs. Bryce Briggs of North Scioto Street opened her home Monday for the meeting of the Major John Boggs Chapter, Daughters of 1812, the third anniversary of the organization being celebrated with a tea, the members inviting guests for the occasion. Mrs. Orion King, West High Street, founded and organized the chapter November 18, 1936, and served as first president of the group.

Mrs. John Boggs, president, opened the meeting, Mrs. King, as acting chaplain, leading the ritualistic service, which closed with the Salute to the Flag.

After the brief business session, which included the report of Mrs. Will Mack, secretary, Mrs. Boggs presented Mrs. Charles H. May who gave a brief but instructive talk on "French Explorations in Ohio. The Leadon Plates."

As the result of the explorations of LaSalle, a French explorer of the years 1643 to 1687, she said that the French laid claim to the territory called Ohio. At that time it included six states or parts of them, even small portions of Kentucky, the seventh state, being part of the province. Mrs. May continued her talk with facts concerning exploring expeditions during the reign of Louis XIV, many of them coming from Canada. Maumee City was the first trading post and continued 18 years. In connection with the explorations, she told of the leadon plates, 11x7x1/4 inches, which were buried at various places on the boundaries of the Ohio territory and discussed the inscriptions which stated the French claims to the land.

She mentioned many Indian and French encounters and told of George Washington being sent from Virginia by Governor Dinwiddie to investigate the claims of the French. She mentioned the colorful conferences he held with the French and the Indians, the Indians claiming to be friendly with either side as it seemed expedient at the time. The Seven Year War resulted in the French and Indians releasing their claims to the territory.

Two new members were received at the meeting, Miss Mary Heffner of East Mound Street, and Mrs. Roland E. Whitney of Chillicothe. Mrs. Whitney, Miss Reppa D. Larimore of Chillicothe and Mrs. B. C. Carpenter of Williamsport were present from out-of-town.

After the program, tea was served in the dining room. A large silver bowl of pompons in lovely shades centered the table which had tall white tapers in triple crystal holders at either

TAUPE, that pleasant mixture of gray and brown, seems to be fashion's favorite right now. With the right make-up, it is a shade becoming to practically every complexion, and goes with several colors in accessories. Here is a pretty taupe crepe with a velvet finish. The round neck is a nice background for jewelry. A bow of the material draws in the waistline from a group of shaped tucks. The front flare in the skirt is repeated in back. A zipper closes the bodice in back.

The recipe comes from Long Island Seafood Cook Book, by J. Geo. Frederick. You may, of course, omit the almonds if you prefer.

chopped; one onion, chopped; one sprig parsley, three good-sized weakfish, water, one teaspoon vinegar, two hard-cooked eggs, one cup sweet cream, two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons cold milk, one dozen blanched almonds, one tablespoon chopped parsley. Place celery root, onion and parsley in a kettle. Wrap the fish in cheesecloth or parchment and lay it on the vegetables. Pour in enough boiling water to cover and add vinegar (the vinegar keeps the fish firm). Simmer just below the boiling point until tender, allowing six to eight minutes to the pound. In the meantime, hard-cook two eggs. Drain fish and lay on a hot platter and prepare the following sauce: Heat sweet cream in a saucepan. Blend flour with cold milk; add to cream, stirring until smooth. Boil about one minute, stirring constantly; pour over the fish. Stick almonds into the fish, points up. Shell the hard-cooked eggs, chop the whites and yolks separately; garnish the fish, first with a row of chopped yolks, then of whites, until all are used.

SEEN ALONG FIFTH AVENUE

JACKETS to be worn with separate skirts as dinner costumes, or to top décolleté evening frocks, appear in all the smart shops. Velvet, wool and flannel are favorite mediums with gold braid or thread embroidery for trimming. Some times tiny colored stones are used. Red flannel makes one jacket of fitted lines. On either side of the side fastener closing are scroll and oak leaves in gilt metal thread and gold braid. Light blue fine French flannel with silver thread and braid is another good looking and snug jacket. Purple velvet with gold trim is a huge favorite and is seen everywhere. Some tiny equestrian jackets are seen but usually have multi-colored stripes.

Fletcher Boot Recalled
But with less than five minutes to go, Illinoi took the ball on its own 20-yard stripe. Relentlessly through the air, the Illini moved straight down to Ohio's two-yard mark. Then Bob Fletcher fell back and booted a field goal—a kick whose thud reverberates 20 years later.

Now, the Chic Harley whose name is invisibly emblazoned on every pillar in Ohio stadium spends his days in a hospital. Sternman works for a Chicago company. Fletcher is head freshman coach at his alma mater, teaching youngsters to kick the way he did when he smashed an Ohio dream.

The situation of so long ago is recalled only because in the same stadium this Saturday there may well be enacted a drama differing but little from what was seen in 1919.

Only this time, the Illini come with prestige won in a single game, that in which Michigan was defeated 16 to 7. But again the Champaign school can play the role of giant killer and, if victorious, perhaps ruin Ohio's chances for an undisputed conference title.

The odds against Bob Zuppke's boys are tremendous. They will be fighting a juggernaut which has ruthlessly overpowered and shattered to bits each opponent save one. But when Cornell handed Ohio its sole defeat, it was brains and deception that triumphed.

And therein, rests Illinois' meager chances for victory this Homecoming Day. Against Michigan, the Illini reached into a dust covered bag and extracted tricks supposed to have vanished with the jazz age. But they worked, and who knows what the crafty Zuppke might have been concealing to throw against the Bucks.

Football is an odd game. It is the unexpected which counts. Perhaps Ohio State will pummel Illinois with a stunning setback. But then again, for Illinois there may be a slight margin. If so, time will have only turned back for two brief hours, reviving with a different cast an old hit.

PAUL WANER SIGNS
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14—Paul Waner, veteran outfielder who has spent his entire 15 years in major league ball in the ranks of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was listed today as the first Buccaneer to sign his 1940 contract.

WOLVES LOSE FRUTIG
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 14—Losers in their last two games, Michigan's Wolverines suffered another setback today with an announcement that Ed Frutig, outstanding end, was lost for the season due to a dislocated ankle tendon sustained in the Minnesota game. Ace Halfbacks Tom Harmon and Paul Kromer both reported finger sprains, but probably will be ready for the Pennsylvania contest Saturday.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL LETTERMEN, KIWANIAN ENJOY ANNUAL BANQUET

HAROLD SMITH HONORED WITH '39 CAPTAINCY

Quarterback Elected By 20 Fellow Gridders After Splendid Season

JIMMY HULL IS SPEAKER

Need For Team Spirit Is Keynote Of Address By Buckeye Athlete

Circleville High School's football lettermen, their coaches, Kiwanians and numerous guests enjoyed an inspiring evening Monday when the civic club's annual football banquet was conducted in the New American Hotel Coffee Shop.

The inspiration was provided by Jimmy Hull, captain of last year's Ohio State Big Ten championship basketball team. The address of the former Greenfield High School athlete stressed the need for team play, for training and for the "will to win". Hull declared that any boy who does not intend to do his best would be doing himself, his coach and his school a favor if he did not report for athletics.

The all-Big Ten cage star discussed last year's title team which he declared was far below the caliber individually of many of the Ohio State teams of the past. "But we got together," Hull said, "worked out some rules that we followed diligently, and we won the championship. Team spirit had much to do with our victory and any team that wants to have it can have team spirit."

Hull showed pictures of the first half of the Ohio State-Cornell football game.

As a part of the program the entire group was invited by Manager Dick Offenbacher of the Grand Theatre to see "Drums Along the Mohawk", current movie at the theatre.

Coaches Roy M. Black and Tom Armstrong were presented, the head coach announcing election of Harold Smith, son of Van Smith, 382 Walnut Street, as honorary captain of this year's team. Smith played quarterback and halfback during the year and proved to be the most valuable boy on the squad.

Tom A. Renick acted as toastmaster and introduced the speaker.

Coach Black introduced his lettermen including Smith, Paul Walters, Robert Bowsher, Howard Orr, Jr., Tom Harden, Jimmy Shea, Hansel Warner, Hulise Hays, Jr., and Melvin Thompson, who have played their last game in high school; Marvin Jenkins, Carl Eby, Robert Brown, Russell Liston, Clark Martin and Billy Thornton, juniors, and Paul Jackson, Frank Geib, Joe Staley, John Sabine, James Moorehead and Norman Anderson, sophomores, David Yates will receive a manager's letter.

The squad which completed its season last Friday at Hillsboro, donned its full regalia Monday afternoon to have pictures taken for publication in the annual.

TAYLOR, SOUTHERN SOLO, DIES IN KNOXVILLE HOME

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Rep. J. Will Taylor (R) of Tennessee, died early today at La Follette, Tenn., according to word received by capitol officials.

Taylor was widely-known in the Republican party. He represented the second Tennessee district and made his home at Knoxville.

Fifty-nine years old, Taylor was active in the house and although a Republican, he supported the administration's TVA program.

He was a member of the house rules committee, which maps the chamber's legislative program, and a member of the Republican national committee from Tennessee. He was first elected to the sixty-sixth congress 22 years ago, and had been reelected to succeeding congresses up to the currently seventy-sixth.

DOG FOOD SHORTAGE
FAIRBANKS, Alaska—An extremely meager catch of salmon in interior rivers has caused a shortage of dog food in northern Alaska, according to reports from dealers. Large orders for winter fish supplies invariably are only partly filled this season because of the small catch in the Yukon and Copper rivers.

British Report Losses

Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty.

The other victims of the sudden resurgence of naval warfare were the freighter Matra, which sank after an explosion in the North Sea, and another unidentified merchant ship which went down only an hour after the destroyer sank and in the same region.

Two men were killed and 22 injured in the explosion which sank the Matra. A lifeboat putting out from shore rescued the captain, the pilot, ten officers and 40 lascars who comprised the crew.

Clothes Torn Off
The 70 survivors landed from the sunken destroyer had been rescued by tugs and other small vessels operating in coastal waters. Many of them were virtually without clothing. The force of the explosion had torn their clothes from their backs. All were drenched with oil.

One tug managed to reach the destroyer's side before she sank. A hawser was thrown across her bow and the tug took the warship in tow, but she sank stern first before much progress had been made and the rope had to be cut away.

A brief admiralty statement on the destroyer's loss merely stated that the vessel had struck a mine.

"Relatives of those killed and missing have been informed." Early advice indicated that one seaman was killed and six were missing and feared dead. Three officers and 12 seamen were injured.

JOHN L. CROUSE, NATIVE OF KINGSTON, IS DEAD

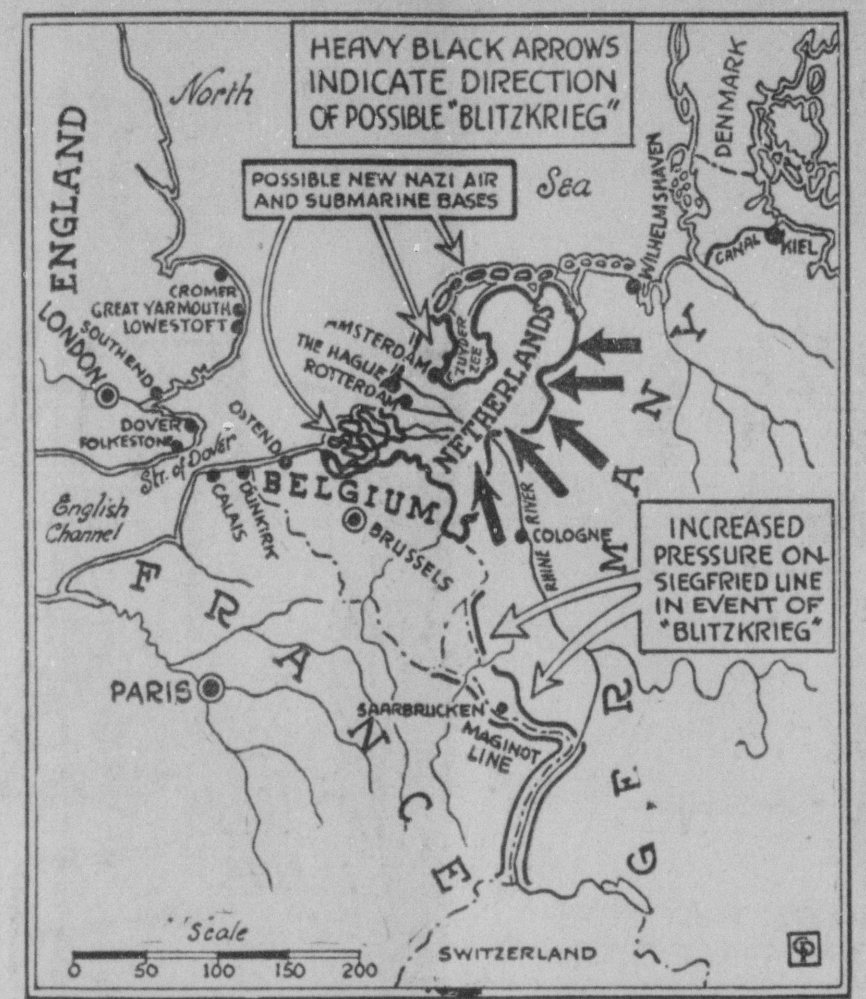

Funeral services were held in Pittsburgh Tuesday for John Leist Crouse, retired Westinghouse executive, who was born at "Seven Walnuts" the former David Crouse farm just south of Kingston. Mr. Crouse died Saturday after a brief illness.

Mr. Crouse was associated with the Westinghouse company for 45 years. He retired two years ago as an executive in the transportation department. He left Kingston when a young man. Mr. Crouse was a son of David and Elizabeth Crouse.

Surviving are the widow; a son, John Jr.; one daughter, Mrs. Louise Demmler of Pittsburgh; a brother, David E. Crouse of Kingston, and three sisters, Mrs. J. M. Holman and Mrs. J. O. Black, both of Kingston, and Mrs. Lawrence Harrison of Cincinnati.

Sorrow and silence are strong, and patient endurance is godlike.—(Longfellow)

Lowlands Invasion Seen Near

WITH German armies along their borders, European observers visualized an imminent invasion of the two lowland countries, the Netherlands and Belgium. Should a new blitzkrieg be launched in that direction (indicated by black arrows in above map) it is also believed the German high command would create a diversion of exerting pressure against the Maginot line (indicated by white arrow). This might prevent France from rushing huge numbers of men to the defense of the lowland countries. Establishment of submarine and air bases on Holland's coast would be one of the objects of such a German drive.

decide the issue," authentic quarters said.

Where and how Germany's armed might will strike remain known only to the Fuehrer and a few of his closest key-men. But that a staggering blow against England one way or another is coming is an open secret.

The neutral nations moved too late in their efforts to mediate the issue, spokesmen said. President Roosevelt, they declared, "missed the greatest opportunity of his lifetime," by failing to step in after Hitler's speech to the Reichstag in which he enumerated his peace conditions.

Meanwhile, authoritative sources emphasized the importance of Germany's action in publishing a list of "armed Allied liners," including the giant Queen Mary and the new Mauretania.

Although somewhat vague, these quarters gave the impression that any of these vessels would be sunk on sight on the grounds they have been armed and converted into naval auxiliaries.

"The finger has been pointed at them," it was said. "This is a forewarning."

These quarters took issue with the American contention that merchant ships are entitled to carry "defensive weapons," declaring it was impossible to differentiate between offensive and defensive shipping.

"A U-boat captain cannot be expected to differentiate," the spokesman said. "Henceforth these ships will be regarded either as warships or franc-tireur's 'snipers' of the sea."

"Neither is entitled to a warning."

List Not Complete
The list was not described as necessarily complete, since it contained only the names of ships which are "known to be armed."

British vessels said to be armed included the Alauania, Alcantara, Aquitania, Britannia, Cameronia, Empress of Russia, Georgic and Scythia. Altogether 26 such ships were named.

Armed French vessels were listed as the Athos II, De Grasse, Desirade, Kerguelen and Mexique.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goerring's newspaper, the Essener National Zeitung, stated:

"England, if keeping within international law, can expect us to do the same. But it would be suicide for us to feel bound by the getting involved because I have no faith in the President keeping us out."

Neutrality and national defense occupied congressional attention on two other fronts today. A subcommittee of the house naval affairs committee prepared to leave tomorrow in a navy seaplane to inspect the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., where an enlargement program is under way, the now closed navy yard at New Orleans, and the proposed naval air station at Corpus Christi, Texas.

At the same time, Delegate Samuel King of Hawaii, was enroute westward today after arranging to meet an informal congressional committee in San Francisco. The party will sail November 17 to inspect projects in the Hawaiian islands particularly military and naval defenses.

WILDCATS, NOTRE DAME PROVIDE GRID HIGHLIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 — Northwestern and Notre Dame, football rivals these many years, are bearing up as well as possible today as they prepare for next Saturday's engagement at South Bend.

Though some of the bloom is faded, since Iowa and Purdue interfered with both Notre Dame and Northwestern football progress, a capacity crowd of 56,000 will be present for Saturday's game.

Whenever the Irish and Wildcats meet, there is assurance of a stirring football game, and next Saturday both expect to be at their full strength.

Notre Dame tackles Tom Gallagher and Tad Harvey, absent from the Iowa game, will be back on the job, and Northwestern reports that Don Gurtz, the guard who has missed the last two games, will be available. "Red" Hahnstein's injured ankle has responded to treatment and he will likely take his place at left half in the Wildcat starting lineup.

In the series, which has been going on for 50 years, Notre Dame has managed to win most of the time. There have been fourteen Notre Dame wins and but two for Northwestern, the last turning up in 1935. However, the Wildcats

Entire Massillon Squad Named on All-Star Team

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—This is the time of the year when all-star teams flow like water from typewriters which hitherto have been confined to describing activities on widely scattered fronts.

In keeping with the trend to come for the next few weeks and operating strictly in recognition of one of the finest records ever compiled in the state, we nominate for the All-Ohio high school eleven the 11 first string men who have propelled Massillon through a masterful season.

This might appear as a direct slight to scores of other excellent prep players in the Buckeye State, but the record speaks for itself. It is extremely doubtful that the most diligent search would uncover 11 men who might approach the Tiger aggregation in even the slightest fundamental.

McKinley Remains
Thumping Youngstown Chaney, 38 to 0, the Tigers last Saturday rolled to their ninth consecutive win of the season and 22nd without defeat. As in other games this year, Coach Paul Brown's outfit was far superior to the unfortunate opposition. The only game remaining on the Tigers' schedule is the pending tilt with Canton McKinley, a traditional foe but hardly capable this year of conquering Massillon.

Over the week end, the slim list of undefeated and untied prep squads was thinned out considerably. Left with ninth consecutive victories with no ties marring the record were: Massillon, West Jefferson, Grandview, Crestline, Toledo Waite and Conneaut. With eight straight wins were Hamilton, Cleveland John Adams, and Akron St. Vincents.

The toll was heavy last Friday and Saturday. Columbus West was knocked out 21 to 0 by Columbus North. Toledo Libbey went down 32 to 6 before Toledo Waite's superior might. Logan are confident that they will add one more to their list no later than next Saturday.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL LETTERMEN, KIWANIAN ENJOY ANNUAL BANQUET

HAROLD SMITH HONORED WITH '39 CAPTAINCY

Quarterback Elected By 20 Fellow Gridders After Splendid Season

JIMMY HULL IS SPEAKER

Need For Team Spirit Is Keynote Of Address By Buckeye Athlete

Circleville High School's football lettermen, their coaches, Kiwanians and numerous guests enjoyed an inspiring evening Monday when the civic club's annual football banquet was conducted in the New American Hotel Coffee Shop.

The inspiration was provided by Jimmy Hull, captain of last year's Ohio State Big Ten championship basketball team. The address of the former Greenfield High School athlete stressed the need for team play, for training and for the "will to win". Hull declared that any boy who does not intend to do his best would be doing himself, his coach and his school a favor if he did not report for athletics.

The all-Big Ten cage star discussed last year's title team which he declared was far below the caliber individually of many of the Ohio State teams of the past. "But we got together," Hull said, "worked out some rules that we followed diligently, and we won the championship. Team spirit had much to do with our victory and any team that wants to have it can have team spirit."

Hull showed pictures of the first half of the Ohio State-Cornell football game.

As a part of the program the entire group was invited by Manager Dick Offenbacher of the Grand Theatre to see "Drums Along the Mohawk", current movie at the theatre.

Coaches Roy M. Black and Tom Armstrong were presented, the head coach announcing election of Harold Smith, son of Van Smith, 382 Walnut Street, as honorary captain of this year's team. Smith played quarterback and halfback during the year and proved to be the most valuable boy on the squad.

Tom A. Renick acted as toastmaster and introduced the speaker.

Coach Black introduced his lettermen including Smith, Paul Walters, Robert Bowsher, Howard Orr, Jr., Tom Harden, Jimmy Shea, Hansel Warner, Hulse Hays, Jr., and Melvin Thompson, who have played their last game in high school; Marvin Jenkins, Carl Eby, Robert Brown, Russell Lison, Clark Martin and Billy Thornton, juniors, and Paul Jackson, Frank Geib, Joe Staley, John Sabine, James Moorehead and Norman Anderson, sophomores, David Yates will receive a manager's letter.

The squad which completed its season last Friday at Hillsboro, donned its full regalia Monday afternoon to have pictures taken for publication in the annual.

TAYLOR, SOUTHERN SOLON, DIES IN KNOXVILLE HOME

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Rep. J. Will Taylor (R) of Tennessee, died early today at La Follette, Tenn., according to word received by capitol officials.

Taylor was widely-known in the Republican party. He represented the second Tennessee district and made his home at Knoxville.

Fifty-nine years old, Taylor was active in the house and although a Republican, he supported the administration's TVA program.

He was a member of the house rules committee, which maps the Chamber's legislative program, and a member of the Republican national committee from Tennessee. He was first elected to the sixty-sixth congress 22 years ago, and had been reelected to succeeding congresses up to the currently seventy-sixth.

DOG FOOD SHORTAGE FAIRBANKS, Alaska.—An extremely meager catch of salmon in interior rivers has caused a shortage of dog food in northern Alaska, according to reports from dealers. Large orders for winter fish supplies invariably are only partly filled this season because of the small catch in the Yukon and Copper rivers.

British Report Losses

The other victims of the sudden resurgence of naval warfare were the freighter Matra, which sank after an explosion in the North Sea, and another unidentified merchant ship which went down only an hour after the destroyer sank and in the same region.

Two men were killed and 22 injured in the explosion which sank the Matra. A lifeboat putting out from shore rescued the captain, the pilot, ten officers and 40 lascars who comprised the crew.

Clothes Torn Off The 70 survivors landed from the sunken destroyer had been rescued by tugs and other small vessels operating in coastal waters. Many of them were virtually without clothing. The force of the explosion had torn their clothes from their backs. All were drenched with oil.

One tug managed to reach the destroyer's side before she sank. A hawser was thrown across her bow and the tug took the warship in tow, but she sank stern first before much progress had been made and the rope had to be cut away.

A brief admiralty statement on the destroyer's loss merely stated that the vessel had struck a mine.

Relatives of those killed and missing have been informed. Early advices indicated that one seaman was killed and six were missing and feared dead. Three officers and 12 seamen were injured.

Lowlands Invasion Seen Near

With German armies along their borders, European observers visualized an imminent invasion of the two lowland countries, the Netherlands and Belgium. Should a new blitzkrieg be launched in that direction (indicated by black arrows in above map) it is also believed the German high command would create a diversion of exerting pressure against the Maginot line (indicated by white arrow). This might prevent France from rushing huge numbers of men to the defense of the lowland countries. Establishment of submarine and air bases on Holland's coast would be one of the objects of such a German drive.

Where and how Germany's armed might will strike remain known only to the Fuehrer and a few of his closest key-men. But that a staggering blow against England one way or another is coming is an open secret.

The neutral nations moved too late in their efforts to mediate the issue, spokesmen said. President Roosevelt, they declared, "missed the greatest opportunity of his lifetime" by failing to step in after Hitler's speech to the Reichstag in which he enumerated his peace conditions.

Meanwhile, authoritative sources emphasized the importance of Germany's action in publishing a list of "armed Allied states," including the giant Queen Mary and the new Mauretania.

Although somewhat vague, these quarters gave the impression that any of these vessels would be sunk on sight on the grounds they have been armed and converted into naval auxiliaries.

"The finger has been pointed at them," it was said. "This is a forewarning."

These quarters took issue with the American contention that merchant ships are entitled to carry "defensive weapons," declaring it was impossible to differentiate between offensive and defensive shipping.

"A U-boat captain cannot be expected to differentiate," the spokesman said. "Henceforth these ships will be regarded either as warships or franc-tireurs 'snipers' of the sea."

"Neither is entitled to a warning."

List Not Complete The list was not described as necessarily complete, since it contained only the names of ships which are "known to be armed."

British vessels said to be armed included the Alauania, Alcantara, Aquitania, Britannia, Cameronia, Empress of Russia, Georgic and Scythia. Altogether 26 such ships were named.

Armed French vessels were listed as the Athos II, De Grasse, Desirade, Kerguelen and Mexique. Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goerring's newspaper, the Essener National Zeitung, stated:

"England, if keeping within international law, can expect us to do the same. But it would be suicide for us to feel bound by the law, if England does not respect international law."

"If passengers allow themselves to be persuaded by Churchill (Winston Churchill, British First Lord of the Admiralty) to use armed English pirate ships with women and children aboard, then they should complain to Churchill in the event something happens."

Neutrality and national defense occupied congressional attention on two other fronts today. A subcommittee of the house naval affairs committee prepared to leave tomorrow in a navy seaplane to inspect the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., where an enlargement program is under way, the now closed navy yard at New Orleans, and the proposed naval air station at Corpus Christi, Texas.

At the same time, Delegate Samuel King of Hawaii, was enroute westward today after arranging to meet an informal congressional committee in San Francisco. The party will sail November 17 to inspect projects in the Hawaiian islands particularly military and naval defenses.

WILDCATS, NOTRE DAME PROVIDE GRID HIGHLIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 — Northwestern and Notre Dame, football rivals these many years, are bearing up as well as possible today as they prepare for next Saturday's engagement at South Bend.

Though some of the bloom is faded, since Iowa and Purdue interfered with both Notre Dame and Northwestern football progress, a capacity crowd of 56,000 will be present for Saturday's game.

Whenever the Irish and Wildcats meet, there is assurance of a stirring football game, and next Saturday both expect to be at their full strength.

Notre Dame tackles Tom Gallagher and Tad Harvey, absent from the Iowa game, will be back on the job, and Northwestern reports that Don Guritz, the guard who has missed the last two games, will be available. "Red" Hahnstien's injured ankle has responded to treatment and he will likely take his place at left half in the Wildcat starting lineup.

In the series, which has been going on for 50 years, Notre Dame has managed to win most of the time. There have been fourteen Notre Dame wins and but two for Northwestern, the last turning up in 1935. However, the Wildcats

Entire Massillon Squad Named on All-Star Team

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14.—This is the time of the year when all-star teams flow like water from typewriters which hitherto have been confined to describing activities on widely scattered fronts.

In keeping with the trend to come for the next few weeks and operating strictly in recognition of one of the finest records ever compiled in the state, we nominate for the All-Ohio high school eleven the 11 first string men who have propelled Massillon through a masterful season.

This might appear as a direct slight to scores of other excellent prep players in the Buckeye State, but the record speaks for itself. It is extremely doubtful that the most diligent search would uncover 11 men who might approach the Tiger aggregation in even the slightest fundamental.
